HENK

The new Henk iPack®

The most luxurious and functional backpack in the world.

Soft shell, smart interior

When designing the iPack®, we placed particular value in retaining the retro-futuristic design of the HENK Classic while also remaining true to our standards of maximum innovation. Generally, the corners of any backpack are its weak points. To minimise wear and tear, we have - much like with the HENK Classic - applied particularly robust leather guards to the corners and edges.

Maximum Storage

The interior has been designed to allow a maximum of load you really need for your daily trip, for example, plenty of accessories, a 15" laptop or a big tablet. Also Flight tickets, passports and business cards are easily accessible from the front. Your laptop/tablet is stored securely at the upholstered back compartment. The main compartment in the middle is big enough to put in a big file folder or some extra clothes for an overnight stay. The front compartment is a real Organizer, you've got space for your glasses, flight tickets, passport, business or credit cards. Also all necessary power cables, chargers, adapters or a powerbank find its place there. For the cables and chargers you have an extra pouch that is retractable and its located right at the top for easy access. Even when you have your iPack® in the overhead bin. Just open the compartment and you have access to all what you need without taking the iPack® out. And perhaps, the zipp locked inner front pocket has a RFID protection so your cards are safe.

Clever details
On the backside of the shoulder straps we place a rubber leather to stop slip around of the strap when you wear it.

HENK

Easy access, anytime

The swiss made RiRi® zippers are the best in the world and allow a long term easy opening. Also the aperture of all compartments are as wide as possible for easy access. The shoulder straps fasteners are from fidlock® and you can open and close it with closed eyes and with one hand because of its magnetic system. Same system we are using for the integrated key holder.

Maximum Luxury

The interior is made from finest Alcantara® leather that is not only very soft and gentle when you touch it, its also extremely robust and water and stain repellent. So it will stays like new for a long time.

HENK

Maximum protection

The HENK iPack® is made for daily use, so we have protected the most claimed parts with a special rubber leather. And if you need, you can have it as an option in a bullet proof version like our carbon Attaché.
